School Matters!

Attend Today, Achieve Tomorrow

Last week our campus barely achieved our goal of 97%. On Wednesday, we had the highest attendance of all Waco ISD. Our goal is to provide the best learning environment for our students. We begin our day with community circles after announcements-This gives our students opportunities to build relationships with their class. Please make sure your students are on time and in class ready to learn by 8:00.

We also have noticed that Friday is our lowest days for attendance, please remember that every day counts and we do not want any students falling behind.
